PORTLAND, May 5. — Friday, occasional light rain. Saturday, fair and warmer.
U. S. WEATHER SERVICE.

PROBATE COURT.—In the estate of Henry Shrum, deceased, a petition for the re-sale of the property was granted. In the matter of the guardianship of Mary T. and Albert L. Eisenhart, minors, the court appointed Michael Skaffe, Chas. Hicks and Oliver Grace appraisers. A. O. Condit, guardian of the estate of Louis B. Simpson, James R. Simpson and Arthur Glover, minors, filed his bond in the sum of $700 on sale of real estate with C. A. Gray as surety.

WHY NOT.—The Democrat of last night in its report of the trial of Elmer Worick, for assault on Shaw, omits all that portion relating to Worick's confession to the police, on which he was bound over, or their statements as to what Worick confessed to having heard and seen of Shaw's doings at Miss Ferris's room. Why not give your readers the news? Or are you silenced by Mr. Shaw? Why not tell the truth? Are you blackmailed?

NOT FAIR.—This paper has never attacked its contemporaries unfairly. It has never trumped up imaginary crime against them, and when a brother publisher has been in real trouble in this county it has not sought to add to his hardship. It is always willing to take a square blow when it can be fairly given and has been fairly provoked. Beyond this we do not believe in quarrels of any sort between newspapers. The public wants facts not controversies.

GETTING LOW.—That remnant stock of boots and shoes is getting lower every day, and the final cut in prices has been made, which gives the people cheaper goods than ever offered in Oregon in this line. This cannot last long, so be sure to get in now and fit yourself out before the opportunity is gone forever. E. Willis agent, opera house block. 21

MORE ABOUT SHAW'S SHOOTING.

Alvin Bowman Dismissed After a Searching Trial.

The Journal Foreman Had Nothing to Do With the Shooting—But He Understood What Shaw Was Up To.

The examination of Alvin Bowman, charged with having committed an assault upon W. A. Shaw, being armed with a dangerous weapon, was continued before Recorder Edes, at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The court room was packed, as on preceding days.

E. HOFFER SWORN.
He testified to having known Bowman ever since he arrived in Salem about four years ago. He said he had no affidavit of Bowman concerning the shooting affair. The court ruled that any affidavits of Bowman, Hoffer might have concerning or in relation to the Shaw affair before the shooting would not be admitted as evidence. Hoffer admitted having affidavits but the contention of the defense was that they were foreign to the case. Hoffer had no objection to producing the affidavits, but he said they did not concern Bowman's connection with the crime charged. They related to Shaw. Unless Hoffer voluntarily chose to reveal the contents of the affidavits the court would not demand them. The affidavits were not produced. Hoffer had had several conversations with Bowman about the shooting. They talked about it Saturday morning. Hoffer proceeded to find out from all sources all that he could about the affair. Bowman did not tell him that he knew the shooting was going to take place or that Worick had prepared for it. Bowman said he wasn't there that night. He knew Bowman and Worick were chums. Bowman never mentioned Worick to him. Half the time the JOURNAL office upstairs and down is unlocked. There is no particular system of locking. Worick was not working for Hoffer; Worick was not at the office Friday to his knowledge. He didn't know Worick went through the office Friday night, but didn't learn it from Bowman. He said Bowman was a very quiet gentleman.

Bingham asked Hoffer if he had any information from Bowman before the shooting that it was to take place. He had not.
Anything regarding Hoffer's visit to Miss Ferris Saturday morning after the shooting, was ruled out. Hoffer made no objection to testify on this matter, but Bowman's attorneys said it had nothing to do with the case.

ALVIN BOWMAN SWORN.
He had worked for THE JOURNAL about five years. He said he was at Mrs. Ball's, No. 191 High street, Friday night, all evening and until 6 a. m. Saturday morning. He did not see Worick until next morning. He knew nothing about the loading of the pistol; did not see the pistol; did not know that any cartridges had been prepared.

Mrs. Ball took the stand. She said she resides at No. 191 High street. Bowman rooms at the house. He was at his room Friday evening after 9:30 until 12. He never went out. She was reading and was positive. He had no visitors that night. She did not know where he was prior to about 9:30 o'clock.
Bowman was recalled. He had nothing to do with the shooting, he said. He had been at Worick's room several times. He was there last Tuesday evening for the last time before the shooting. The night of the shooting the key to the composing room was in his pocket. The back door key was in the door. Never loaned his key. There was a ladder at the rear of the office by which any one could get in through a window at any time. He had seen Worick every day for several months. They boarded at the same place. Saw him last before the shooting after supper on Friday evening. They walked down street together as far as the armory, when Bowman went to his room. He knew Shaw had been up to the girl's room. Worick spoke about it—said something about seeing him. It was after Tuesday that Worick first talked about seeing Shaw. They talked about him on the street, walking from meals. Several ways of seeing him were suggested; didn't know who first mentioned it, he or Worick. They talked about tying a string so Shaw would trip over it when he left the room; then they would hollow and laugh at him, and let him know somebody was onto him.

A great many petty details of no interest to our readers were drawn out by the attorneys at great length.
Bingham asked how it came to be suggested to stretch the string. Bowman said it was something that he had seen Tuesday evening, accidentally, he guessed it was. Didn't remember who first suggested seeing Shaw by shooting; had nothing to do with the shooting or loading the pistol, didn't know any shooting was going to be done.
Ford asked what Bowman saw Tuesday night. Defense objected. The court permitted the question in part. What Bowman saw was while he was in Worick's room; something he saw while in Worick's room on Tuesday evening about 9 o'clock. He and Worick both saw it. Shaw was not in the room with them. They were alone. That something which they saw was in Worick's room.

Here the defense rested and the court stated that he believed no arguments would be required by the attorneys; but Mr. Ford announced that the prosecution had something to offer in rebuttal and proceeded to announce that it the court would view the premises (Worick's room) the witness in rebuttal would then be produced.

The court disliked to go through the streets with a procession to view the scene, but would go down and look through the stovepipe hole before 7 this (Thursday) evening—in company with the attorneys if they liked—at which time the examination would be concluded, if possible. Court adjourned until 7 o'clock.

The court reported having viewed the premises and considered no argument by the attorneys would be necessary. He said considerable testimony had been offered of a nature foreign to the charge upon which Bowman was having a hearing; that there was some testimony going to show that Bowman was an accomplice, but he did not feel justified in binding him over to await the action of the grand jury, and therefore discharged the defendant.

OREGON DIVISION IN CAMP.

Sons of Veterans Elect New State Officers, are Banqueted, Speeches, Etc.

When Colonel Charles Emmett Drake, of Portland, division commander, called the state encampment to order at Oregon City, May 2d, every camp was represented.

W. E. Johnson of the local camp introduced Mayor Sullivan, of the beautiful city of five thousand at the falls of the Willamette, and he extended a cordial welcome to the visiting delegates and members of the division. At each side of Colonel Drake, who presided with great ability and fairness, sat his division adjutant, J. W. Wilson, his quartermaster, Leonard Becker and other members of his staff in full dress, the fatigue uniform of the regular officers of the line, with glittering side arms and splendid military bearing. The Portland camps were strongly represented from both sides of the river. Among the most prominent members of the order were J. V. Scott Bebee, judge advocate general on the staff of the national commander, and Past Commander Melvin, of Phil Sheridan camp, both of whom showed abilities for leadership that resulted materially in bringing about greater harmony and the good of the order.

CANDIDATES FOR COLONEL.

Soon came to the surface and a sharp but good-natured struggle for supremacy soon cleared the field of all but two—Captain H. L. Wells of Portland, and on the staff of the Oregonian, and Capt. C. A. Hermann of Oregon City. They fought to a finish, both commanding the respect of their friends and the admiration of the encampment, although neither finally succeeding to the great honor, which went unsolicited to E. Hoffer, commander of Sumpter camp at Salem.

The strife to be the lieutenant colonel and the major of the division was not so warm, the former going to Major D. M. Dwyer, of Silverton camp, the latter to L. W. Briggs, of Heppner camp. The division council was composed of Capt. Adams, of Silverton, Capt. Strum, of Lebanon, Leonard Becker, of Portland. Delegates to national encampment at Cincinnati, August next, T. M. Johnson, La Grande; J. L. Ayer, Portland, E. Hoffer, colonel of the division. Alternates: Adams, of Silverton, Hermann, of Oregon City.

THE NEXT ENCAMPMENT.

was upon invitation of the G. A. R. council of administration, decided to be held at Roseburg, or wherever the Grand Army meets, and at same date. There is to be a grand reunion on that occasion of all the loyal and patriotic orders in the state, including Woman's Relief Corps, ladies auxiliary to the G. A. R., and Ladies Aid society, auxiliary to the Sons of Veterans. Time and place will be announced in due season.

THE BANQUET.

Shirley's opera house was the scene of a grand banquet. The Ladies' Aid Society, the new military order, served lunch from 5 to 8 o'clock when the speech-making began. There was toast responded to in honor of the Grand Army, the ladies' societies and the society of the ladies, the past, present and future of the Sons of Veterans, which to judge from the remarks of all the speakers is an important organization.

Comrades Wemple, Davis, Drake, Johnson, Melvin, Hermann, and the Colonel Elect made speeches. A telegram was received by the last named which was read and the encampment gave three cheers topped off with a rousing tiger.

CONGRATULATIONS.

SALEM, May 3, 1892.
Colonel E. Hoffer: Accept congratulations as Commander of the Sons of Veterans, department of Oregon.
H. B. COMPTON,
Brigadier General Oregon National Guard.

BADGE HONORS.

The encampment ordered the division officers to procure silver badges for past commander, and the retiring adjutant was voted a gold badge. They will be beautiful and desirable souvenirs of the order in this state and highly prized by the fortunate recipients.

HOSPITALITY.

The Oregon City camp, named in honor of Col. E. D. Baker, entertained the state encampment in good style. They furnished the beautiful grand army hall for meetings, secured reduced rates at the hotels, and arranged the grand reception with music at the opera house. The encampment was the largest and most successful yet held in the state and all left its sessions with renewed zeal for the good of the order.

CHILDREN'S DAY.—Beginning tonight Mrs. Flester starts a special sale of children's hats to last only over Saturday. It will be the rare opportunity to get spring hats for the little ones. The beauty of the goods is only exceeded by the low prices. Cash buys cheap. Opposite opera house.

WHO WILL GO?—It is very evident that either Andy Hoffer or W. A. Shaw is a candidate for the penitentiary, and the Democrat feels positive that it is not Mr. Shaw.—Democrat. The Democrat is very positive—24 dollars worth at least, for that is what it says Shaw paid it.

APPRECIATED.—The 11 p. m. cars on the Capital City Electric railway were in great demand last night, the occasion of the Columbian dress party at Mrs. A. N. Gilbert's.

BAD ROAD CASE.—An appeal in the celebrated road case, of G. W. Vedder vs. Marion county, which has been appealed to the circuit court twice and the supreme court once, is being taken again.

THE DIFFERENCE.—The Democrat took Shaw's money to keep still about him. THE JOURNAL did not.

AN ALIBI.—The head of the house was at J. A. Van Eaton's laying in a supply of groceries for the family. He found great bargains at this house.

YOUTHFUL PAIR.—The county clerk has issued a marriage license to Miss Ida H. Goulding and Wm. B. McCormick, by written consent of both parents. They are aged 16 and 18 respectively.

CHINESE REGISTRATION.—Captain Phillips, the deputy collector who has been in the city for a few days registering the Chinese, returned to Portland this afternoon. He says there are about 15,000 Celestials in Oregon and Washington and the estimate is made that not over 10 per cent of them will register. They are very superstitious, and are afraid to register, as they are led to believe it is in violation of the law of loyalty to the Empire, which offense costs a head either of the violator or his next male kin. There are 1200 Chinese in Salem.

Davison's market is well supplied with extra choice poultry and plenty of it. Leave your order.

TEARING UP.—The Salem Motor company is today tearing up its old track on Commercial street between State and Ferry. The track on Center street has been taken up, and all the old materials will be taken to Morning-side, where the new car house is to be erected.

Chinook salmon, halibut, cod fish, sea bass, Eastern oysters, at Davison's market, 94 Court street.

Shaw hired the Democrat for $24 to attack the JOURNAL, in order to divert attention from his own affairs. The Democrat is now dragging in other matters to screen its own guilty conduct in taking Shaw's money only to get him in the soup.

Hello John, going fishing? No, I can catch em quicker at Davison's market.
